complementing workspaces

The classic Pully shape at every height

Pully Base brings the signature Pully shape to a complete table collection in steel. From a low side table next to a lounge chair to a high table for a quick stand-up meeting, every model shares the same soft, triangular silhouette. Designed by Robert Bronwasser for the places where people pause, meet or work for a moment: the reception, the lounge, the canteen, the breakout area.

Pully Base grew out of the popular Pully Side laptop table. The column now sits in the centre, so every table works from all sides and fits more situations.

Six sizes, one language

From a low side table to a high table for standing, all in the same design. Combine them freely and give a space a calm, consistent look, from the waiting area to the coffee corner.

Made for customisation

Every Pully Base can be powder coated in any Classic RAL colour, with no minimum order. Match the tables to the interior, the brand or the colour palette of the project, and the collection becomes part of the space instead of an addition to it.

Open from every side

The centred column keeps the tabletop free all around. Pull up a pouf, a lounge chair or a bar stool from any direction. The tables adapt to the way people use the space.

One bolt, done

A single threaded rod clamps top, column and base firmly together. Assembly takes minutes and nothing comes loose. Moving, rearranging or replacing a part is just as simple.

Built to last

Steel tops and columns with a scratch-resistant powder coat, stainless steel fixings and wool felt under every base to protect the floor. Locally produced, flat-packed for efficient transport and fully recyclable.

Thanks to their different heights, the Ø40 tables nest neatly together.
